Abstract

in English: 15–25 lines of text, of 200 words summarizes substantial results in English and gives information on used methods, fundamental data and their interpretation in English, 12-point Times New Roman text font, line spacing 1.5. English usage should be of high quality, and the text should be written clearly and organized effectively. The main text body should be arranged according to usual format of scientific papers (Introduction, Material & methods, Results, Discussion, Conclusions, Acknowledgements, and References). Interpretations and conclusions should be supported by data and analyses. Do not format the text and headings. Do not use word hyphenation. Beginning of paragraph is not indented and paragraph is ended by ENTER. Citations in text should follow this format: Chlupáč (1994); (Liew et al. 1989); (Franke 1994, Kalvoda 1995); (Šalanský in Prouza 1992); (Graham – Powel 1984). Place the table and figure abbreviations at the end of text. Do not insert any figures and tables to the text. Range of at least 3, up to 5–6 pages format of A4.

Main text body

Tables. Produced using table editor (optimally EXCEL, *.xls), 10 point Ariel font - submit as separate file.

Figures: Line drawings in vector format must be contrast and clear. Black and white patterns as an area fill are preferred over grey scale. The text in figures should use Arial Narrow font – minimum size 8 points, are preferred picture in Corel Draw version 13 and lower. BW photographs may be submitted in TIFF, JPG, and WMF formats (600 dpi). All figures should be submitted in print size (80–164 mm wide, 225 mm high). Figure and table abbreviations (Tab. 1.; Fig. 1;) including text legends are ended by dot. Photographs abbreviations should give author and year information. Graphic legend is component part of figure, while its text explanation is part of abbreviation (not in figure).

After reading by reviewers you will receive your manuscript back for corrections. The editorial board reserves right to refuse the manuscript that does not follow the instructions.
